Improving your Immunity & Organ function

eMedica modulates the electromagnetic frequency of a human body to bring it to its optimal potential. It treats various diseases in the body by correcting the cell parameters using a dedicated and specified frequency, voltage and current for each disease.

- Each cell in the human body carries an electrical charge. By correcting the charge of the blood cells, and organs cells immunity improves allowing the organs to carry out functionality at their peak.
- Voltages help correct cell parameters of the human body.
- Frequencies help target the organ to improve its function.
- The current sent helps to burn fat deposits that sit in the blood and blood vessel.

- eMedica therapy helps improve the blood circulation and oxygen levels in the blood cells.
